The club was established in 1895 after a discussion at St Michael's church, and was originally named St Michael's Foot-ball Club, although they became known as St Michael's, Camberley.

The first match, a friendly, was played on 16 October against D Company from the Royal Military College in nearby Sandhurst, St Michael's won 4–2. In January 1896 they joined the Surrey County Football Association, entering and winning the Surrey Junior Cup in 1897–98; the club's first competitive game was played on 16 October 1897, a Junior Cup first round match against Farncombe which St Michael's won 5–2. After winning the cup, the club joined the East & West Surrey League for the 1898–99 season.

In January 1901 a public meeting was held, at which it was decided to establish a new club that would absorb both St Michael's and Camberley Magpies. The name Camberley & Yorktown was adopted and the club took St Michael's place in the East & West Surrey League. However, they dropped into the Aldershot Combination in 1902, before switching to the Ascot & District League in 1903. The club finished as runners-up in their first season and went on to win the league in 1904–05. They were runners-up again in 1905–06, before winning a hat-trick of successive titles in 1907–08, 1908–09 and 1909–10, remaining unbeaten throughout the third of the title-winning seasons. The season also saw them win the Surrey Junior Cup for a second time, beating Sutton United 2–0 in the final. In 1910 Camberley & Yorktown returned to the East & West Surrey League, which had been renamed the West

Surrey League. In 1912–13 the club also entered the three-club Aldershot Senior Civilian League, which they won. They went on to win the West Surrey League the following season.

In 1922 Camberley & Yorktown were founder members of the Surrey Senior League. They won three successive titles in 1930–31, 1931–32 and 1932–33 and were runners-up in 1938–39. After World War II the club was renamed Camberley, and were Surrey Senior League runners-up in 1946–47, before winning the league's Charity Cup in 1951–52 with a 4–3 win over Chertsey Town. The club were league runners-up again in 1961–62, and adopted their current name on 2 June 1967 after merging with former Parthenon League club

Camberley Wanderers. In 1973 they joined the Spartan League, but left to join Division Two of the Athenian League in 1975. In 1977 they switched to Division Two of the Isthmian League, and were promoted to Division One after finishing as Division Two runners-up in 1978–79. Two seasons later they were relegated, and after a single season back in Division Two, they rejoined the Athenian League, which now had a single division.

In 1983 Rick Wakeman became the club's chairman while he was living in Camberley. He remained in this post until 1986 when he was elected Vice-President, and left the club when he moved to the Isle of Man in 1988. In 1984 the Athenian League disbanded; Camberley rejoined the Isthmian League and were placed in Division Two South, where they remained until being placed in Division Three following league reorganisation in 1991. In 1998–99 the club reached the first round of the FA Cup for the first time. Drawn against away to Third Division Brentford, they lost 5–0. Division Three became Division Two in 2002, and Camberley remained members until the end of the 2005–06 season, when they dropped into the Premier Division of the Combined Counties League through the FA's re-structuring of non-league football. They were runners-up in the division in 2013–14 and 2014–15.

They came third in the 2015-16 season in the North division of the Combined counties league 2016-17 saw a sixth place finish and seventh the season after. 2018-19 saw a sixteenth place finish and with the 2019-20 season not finishing and the 2020-21 one not even starting due to covid, they started the 2021-22 season in the Combined Counties Premier Division South and Manager Luke Turkington oversaw a twelfth place finish on 44 points. 2022-23 Season was an improvement on the previous finishing tenth with 52 Points, with a fantastic run of 1 defeat in the last 14 league games of the season, that was at a time when games were coming thick and fast as the season had to be extended by 2 weeks to make up for the bad weather earlier in the campaign. 2023-24 was a disappointing season which was entered into with the hope to push on from the prior years and maybe see if we could get in the top 5 for the newly instigated playoffs.

GROUND

In 1898 the club started playing at the new Recreation Ground on London Road, although they also used a pitch near Southwell Park Road when the Recreation Ground was unavailable and had moved there permanently by 1905. They played there until moving to Martin's Meadow in 1909. However, when the tenancy came to an end, the club returned to the Recreation Ground.

Since 1923 the club have played at Krooner Park on Wilton Road. The ground was paid for with the winnings of a horse named Krooner who won two races at Haydock Park Racecourse in 1920.

It was officially opened on 22 December 1923. Due to financial difficulties Krooner Park was sold back to the local council in 1939 with the council guaranteeing that the ground would be retained in perpetuity and that it would be rented to the football club, giving them priority whilst they remained in existence. In the mid-1960s the club asked the council to leave Krooner Park and build a new ground at South-cote Park Farm, but the request was rejected due to the amount of engineering that would be required.

Floodlights were installed at the ground in 1974, with the first floodlit match being a friendly against Crystal Palace on 14 October. The attendance at the match, which ended in a 1–1 draw, was around 3,100, a ground record. The highest confirmed attendance at Krooner Park was 2,066 when the newly-formed Aldershot Town visited for an Isthmian League Division Three match on 10 November 1992.

Army Football Association

A warm welcome this evening to the Army FA officials, Head Coach, and Krooners old boy :-) Keith Emmerson and his team, and all of the Army players.

Emmerson is in his first season in the Head Coach role.

He retired from playing last year after a long-playing career in military and civilian football. Since joining the Army in 2003 he represented the senior Army side for 20 years making over 150 appearances as a player, captain and finally player- coach. Now as Head Coach we wish Keith and his side a successful season.

Army FA's vision is to be 'Ahead of the Game'. As an organisation it champions this in all its services and opportunities that is provided in supporting Army FA's Grassroots football. The Army FA aim as an organisation is to govern, develop, promote and protect grassroots football within The Army.

Football in the Army is considered "The Soldiers Game". Last year according to their annual review over 10,000 soldiers were registered by the Army FA as players, coaches, officials and volunteers within the organisation. With the British Army smaller in size than in previous years this is a considerable percentage of the standing army. Under the auspices of the FA, the Army FA is considered a County Association.

CEO and Secretary of the Army FA is Graham Brookland who sits on the FA Council. Graham is well known to many for his football back story. A longtime supporter of Aldershot he was co-founder of the Pheonix club when it rose from the ashes in 1992. He later became a director, full-time secretary and media officer whilst the club were in the Football League. Twice Graham played a huge role in saving the club after the misdeeds of others. In addition to Aldershot, Graham is a longstanding member of both the Aldershot FA and Hampshire FA. Today the Army FA has a close relationship with Aldershot Town FC with some Army rep matches taking place on the Recreation Ground pitch. Last May for example the Nepal National Team visited the Rec to play the Army in a memorable match.

At the top level the focus each year is the Inter-Services Championship for Men, Women and Under 23 teams. The current holders of the U23 championship are the Royal Navy who have won the title for the last three seasons. Last year the RAF beat the Army in the U23 competition 2-0 in a match played at Rayners Lane. Then at the Aldershot Military Stadium the Army grabbed a stoppage time equaliser to draw 1-1 against the Royal Navy, who then took the title with a 1-0 win over the RAF at Portsmouth.

The Green Ballet

By the 1920s, tours by European teams in South America were becoming old hat. The visits that had once enlivened the sport, especially in Argentina, were seen as adding nothing to the development of the game. Where once these tours had delivered record crowds and new ideas to South American fans, their popularity was waning. Chelsea and Plymouth were singled out, but hardly unique, of British teams failing to offer anything innovative. Visits from Real Madrid, Barcelona and Espanyol were similarly disappointing. So it said something about the burgeoning future of the European game that, in 1929, excitement was restored, with the visit of Hungarian side Ferencvaros.

Football in Austria and Hungary had been developing a unique style since before the First World War, driven by the visionary work of Austrian Hugo Meisl and Englishman Jimmy Hogan. The Danubian school of a whirlwind of passes and movement would make Austria the envy of the world in the following decade, and culminated in the 1950s Golden Team of Hungary that defeated England at Wembley in 1953 and lost the 1954 World Cup final. In 1929, however, it was just beginning to show shoots of success.

Ferencvaros had finished second in Hungary that season, and won the league in the three preceding years. They were fresh from winning the Mitropa Cup, one of the forerunners of the European Cup. But Argentina felt hard done by to have lost the Olympic final to fierce rivals Uruguay in 1928, and would feel even worse when losing to the same opponents in the first World Cup final in 1930. The Danubian school hadn't achieved any real international success. The balance of international footballing power was most certainly in South America when the Green Ballet arrived, first in Brazil.

Despite some mixed results - the consequence of a long journey - the Brazilian press lauded them as the most exciting side to visit the continent in years. They moved their way down the coast to the Rio de la Plata, where the two giants of 1920s football were waiting for them. Argentinian football had been following the Danubian school for some years, with reporters in Vienna keeping readers up to date. Hugo Meisl had invited both Uruguay and Argentina to visit the city after watching them at the Olympics, to exchange ideas. That visit had never happened, but now his ideas had arrived at the home of the World Champions.

As it was, the World Champions were as dazzled by Ferencvaros as the rest of the world, as Uruguay lost 3-2. The Hungarians defeated a Montevideo XI 4-1, before Uruguay claimed revenge in a rematch. The tour continued across the river into Argentina, where just 5000 people turned up to watch them play River Plate, something the national newspaper called 'an injustice of indifference'.

Those that did attend were treated to a spectacular, topsy-turvy game that finished 4-3 to the visitors. The same newspaper claimed the Hungarians had won a 'double victory', but winning the game and also winning over the crowd. They also applauded 'the class of the game played in Central Europe', a far cry from the criticism thrown at visitors from the home of football. It was clear that British football was falling far behind.

The crossed back to Uruguay to lose 2-1 to Penarol, in a game marked by controversy and refereed by one of the Uruguayan side's staff, and then back to Argentina where they beat Racing 2-1, taking a 2-0 lead early on through superstar Jozsef Turay.

Far from the disappointment of their first game in Argentina, by the time August came and they took on the national side, people were clamouring for tickets at the sold out game. Carlos Spadero, a player from Buenos Aires, described them as 'the best team that I have seen in my life,' Playing with speed and grace, opposing players had to be at their absolute best to contain them, something most failed to do. Argentina did though, just about, scoring two late goals to see off the Hungarians. The game was contrasted with the visit of Torino that same year, described as 'mediocre'.

Ferencvaros finished their time in Argentina with another win against Racing, before sailing back up the coast for a final farewell in Brazil. There were hopes that the clash between South American champions and European innovators would continue at the World Cup the following season. Unfortunately for those dreams, Hungary, Austria and Czechoslovakia all chose to focus on the Cup of Nations instead, and didn't travel to Uruguay in 1930.

The influence of the Green Ballet lasted though, with football in South America remembering the fiery tempers of Mediterranean visitors and the cold efficiency of British tourists. Ferencvaros, with their movement, their passing, and their passion, represented the best of South American football, even from the middle on another continent.

WE NEED YOU

We are after people to join our Media team. We are now covered by a videographer, but we really need a photographer, we could also do with someone to write match reports and help compile the matchday programme. It would be great to have write ups to send to local papers and other outlets. Someone willing to up our Reels output would be good too. If you fancy any of those please get in touch.
